

Simon Sinek, Brené Brown, and Jeremy Gutsche to Keynote ATD 2016 International Conference & Exposition

The Association for Talent Development expects more than 10,000 attendees at premier event in Denver, Colorado

(Alexandria, VA), April 26, 2016– The Association for Talent Development will hold its 2016 International Conference & Exposition on May 22-25, at the Colorado Convention Center in Denver, Colorado. The conference is the premier international event for trainers and others in the talent development profession.

ATD 2016 is anchored by three General Sessions featuring bestselling author Simon Sinek, Brené Brown, a research professor at the University of Houston Graduate College of Social Work, and Jeremy Gutsche, the CEO of Trend Hunter, a company that is the leading showcase for innovation and The Next Big Thing. These dynamic speakers will share their perspectives on leadership that inspires, courage, and the power of innovation and creativity.

Learning opportunities at this conference are abundant. There are

- more than 300 education and networking sessions
- content tracks include career development, global human resource development, human capital, instructional design, leadership development, learning measurement & analytics, learning technologies, management, training delivery, and science of learning
- industry tracks include government, healthcare, higher education, and sales enablement.

Attendees can build their own schedule and manage it in the conference app. Select session recordings will be available for 90 days to full conference attendees after the conference.

ATD 2016 offers the world's largest EXPO dedicated to the talent development field. Nearly 375 suppliers with latest tools and resources will be on hand to share their expertise.

For more information about the ATD 2016 International Conference & Exposition, visit www.atdconference.org. Follow the conference conversation on Twitter with #ATD2016.

About ATD

The Association for Talent Development (ATD) is the world's largest professional membership organization supporting those who develop the knowledge and skills of employees, improve performance, and help to achieve results for the organizations they serve. Originally established in 1943, the association was previously known as the American Society for Training & Development (ASTD).

ATD's members come from more than 120 countries and work in public and private organizations in every industry sector. ATD supports talent development professionals who gather locally in volunteer-led U.S. chapters and international member networks, and with international strategic partners. For more information, visit www.td.org.